

Mental Health Update

Because of the Holiday this week, there are no announcements for the Weekly Mental Health Update and there are no new postings.

Last week's postings (06/30/06) included an invitation for public review and comment on revised procedures for Designated Agencies applying for a Certificate of Approval (COA). The financial tables that are an important part of both the existing and the revised procedures were inaccurately posted last week. The financial tables consist of an Excel Spreadsheet workbook, and are now correctly posted under the document title "Original Excel financial Tables". Both the original and the revised COA application procedures use the same financial tables. Click here to review them:
